35 Funny Names Kids Give Everyday Things, According To Their Parents Anyone who's been around children knows they offer a number of creative takes on the English language. By

Everybody has their own sweet cravings, right? Because of the technology available today, almost everything is instant. People get things in a jiffy. There are a lot of times when families indulge in a confection that is readily available in supermarkets, grocery stores, and malls. When kids see a cupcake, their eyes light up at the sight of something so sweet and yummy! Fun can be spelled in many different ways especially with the young ones. Baking for kids will be an enjoyable bonding activity for the whole family! All it takes is someone who will encourage kids to explore new things like baking or develop a talent that is already there. Assist a budding chef by helping your child learn to bake. Children develop new skills, gain confidence, and make delicious food when they bake. Some recipes may be more difficult than others. Offer help and guidance to your child when it is needed. Encourage taking some creative leaps with these recipes. Creative baking encourages children to think like real chefs. Before getting started, have ground rules for using the kitchen, tools, and ingredients. There should always be adult supervision when a sharp tool, oven, or stove is used. Be aware of the "K" symbol on each step of the procedure. It indicates that they can do this on their own. Now, put on your apron. Taste their creations. Cheer on your new pastry chef!

This book is a convenient one-stop shop for parents, grandparents, and everyone who works with children aged 12 months to any age, who want to find out more about the importance of Creative Sensory Play, and why it is something we should all be encouraging from a very earlier age. This book takes the guess work out of finding a recipe that works. No more wasting time, trawling the internet trying to find 'something different' to do with the children or grandchildren. No more irritation discovering that a really interesting looking blog post and recipe just does not work! No more buying small tubs of playdough that cost the earth and dry out quickly, or are too hard for little hands to play with. No, you can make exactly the same things at home for a fraction of the cost of shop bought equivalents. Also, because you make the dough, paint etc., you can vary the consistency easily to make it suitable for your child, or avoid ingredients you are worried may cause an allergic reaction. Some recipes are naturally softer than others, and some are deliberately flaky and harder to 'push together', so are better for older or stronger children. Each recipe comes with information on how to store it (most can be reused several times, and some even keep for months). Every recipe (there are over 40!) in this book has been tried and tested with both large and small groups of children, during my years as an early year's educator, mum and granny! Most of them use ingredients that are easy to source from the local supermarket, or local health food shops (there is a long list of store cupboard necessities to get you started!). None of the recipes are difficult to make, and surprisingly not all of them are messy! Although, as with anything creative, it may be messy and at the end of the book, I give some tips on how to contain this if it really worries you. Great resource for rainy day activities too!

Kids love to help out with stuff around the house; it actually makes them feel more useful and self-sufficient. Therefore, it is a good thing to encourage this and involve them in fun, household chores. And what is more fun than some sort of cooking? The process is a long and fun one that can be enjoyed by every member of the family. Kids should not just be relegated to the role of a mindless consumer that knows nothing about the things they put in their mouths. Baking yummy desserts and snacks can also be an adventure and a fun activity for them. Baking is also a life skill they can learn to keep away the twin terrors of hunger and starvation. Learning to bake in a fun environment could lead to the beginning of a great pastry chef career for any one of your kids. Spend some family time together and try out some of these awesome recipes today!

Designed for adults to use with children, this cookbook not only teaches children how to cook various foods, but also enhances reading, comprehension, math, and other skills.

35 step-by-step cookie and cake decorating projects for children aged 7-plus. In My First Cookie & Cake Decorating Book you will discover that half the fun of baking is in the decorating! Getting kids involved in the kitchen at an early age is a great, hands-on way to introduce them to new foods and teach them valuable skills. Gadgetology makes it fun - kids and parents alike will love this activity book, chock-full of experiments, recipes, and games using 35 kitchen gadgets. Parents will appreciate spending quality time with their children, broadening their kitchen horizons at an early age. Children will love using "grown-up" gadgets - from an apple peeler to a whisk - to play games, try simple recipes, make crafts, and conduct fun experiments. A box grater is certainly handy for shredding mozzarella to make Super Easy Lasagna, but its also great for shredding crayons onto wax paper to be ironed into "stained glass." Leftover walnut shells cracked with a nutcracker for Fudgy Walnut Brownies turn into perfect sailboats. In Gadgetology, Pam Abrams offers so many creative, fun, and safe uses for everyday gadgets that the kitchen will become an educational playground. An avid cook and self-described "gadget junkie," Pam has been cooking with her two children since they were in highchairs. She recently began encouraging other kids to engage their curiosity and interest in food and gadgets through teaching cooking classes at home in Brooklyn, New York.

Creative Kids Zone is the optimal workbook for every 21st century learner. It combines solid, standards-based math, language arts, and science content with fun stories, crafts, and games. Children can flip between the five color-coded zones, Craft, Math, Story, Science, and Game to discover a wealth of creative activities that present important content while keeping boredom at bay! Each zone features different activity formats to reinforce essential skills:

- *Craft Zone—develops fine motor skills and enhances the creativity and collaboration a 21st century learner must possess
- *Math Zone—features grade-specific math activities that equip children with the math skills needed for school readiness
- *Story Zone—includes three, six-page removable storybooks children can cut out, read, and share while developing early reading and writing skills
- *Science Zone—includes fun, hands-on experiments and activities that relate to subject content
- *Game Zone—reinforces critical thinking and logic skills while supporting the lessons taught in the other zones

Each grade-specific Creative Kids Zone workbook features 256 pages of standards-based content combined in a dynamic format with bright illustrations, a colorful character poster, and an additional Answer Zone to help students achieve subject mastery. This winning combination easily provides the fun and engagement that children love with the educationally sound content that parents desire.
